

Dr. Voronoff, of Monkey Gland
Fame, Arrives
French Surgeon Says U. S.
Apes Are Safe, Because
They're Not the Proper
Kind to Revitalize Man
May Perform Operations

Makes Trip Principally to Visit Wife, Who Is Ill;
Menier, Candy King, Here

Serge Voronoff, discoverer of the monkey gland as a source of renewed vitality for man, arrived last night on the steamship France, of the French Line. The monkeys here need not be perturbed, for Dr. Voronoff does not think they are the right kind for surgical purposes.

Dr. Voronoff, a newspaper correspondent and Gaston Menier, chocolate manufacturer and member of the French Senate, were sitting on the promenade deck.

"I think," said the correspondent, "that I had better send a radio on ahead to let our monkeys know you are coming."

"I don't think that will be necessary," said Dr. Voronoff. "They are doubtless unsuitable. I need chimpanzees—big ones."

"Then," said the correspondent, "I'll go into the monkey business, raise them and sell them to you at $10,000 a head."

"Thank you," replied the doctor, pleasantly, "but I have sent a man to Africa to get twenty apes and bring them to France. They will breed there, I hope."

They asked Dr. Voronoff other questions about his discovery, news of which reached this country last October. The doctor is director of the laboratory of experimental surgery at the College of France. His work is skin grafting and his specialty is plastic surgery. He said that greater strides had been made in these branches of surgery during the two years of the war than had been made in forty years of peace.

He said that he chose the monkey in his experiments because it was the most vile animal and like to man. He claims to have grafted the intestinal glands of an ape in an old man, causing the return of youthful vigor. He also asserts that he can take similar glands from a healthy man just dead and rejuvenate an old man with them.

The operation, he says, is a simple one, requiring only a local anesthetic. It is not a dangerous one. The greatest cost is in obtaining monkeys.

Wife, American Woman, Is Ill
Dr. Voronoff expects to be here about one month. In that time he may perform operations to prove his theory. He is here principally to see his wife, an American woman, who is ill. Then he will return to France.

Dr. Menier brought with him his wife and three sons. One of the boys was badly burned about the face in an airplane accident. The only thing that saved his eyes was the fact that he had on American goggles. For three weeks he was unconscious and was for sixteen months a prisoner of the Germans.

Dr. Menier and his family are going to the Island of Anticosti in the St. Lawrence River. He owns the island, which is about 170 miles long and forty miles wide. There he is going to immerse himself in the production of pulp wood and to promote the fishing industry. Later they will tour the United States.

Bishop M. P. Feehan, of Fall River, and Bishop J. Rice, of Burlington, returned from an official visit to the Pope, A. Bartelemy and his wife and daughter came on the ship. M. Bartelemy is the newly appointed French Consul at Chicago.

The France carried 338 first cabin passengers, 435 second and 912 steerage.

Buried Under Large Boulder
Workman's Life Saved by Small Rocks Supporting Great Stone

Workmen in an excavation on Queens Boulevard, Kew Gardens, Queens, scattered in wild alarm yesterday as the shoring gave way beneath a two-ton boulder that was poised on the edge of the shaft. To their horror they discovered, on their return, that the huge rock lay squarely on top of one of their number, Peter Schwantke, of Flushing.

"There's no hurry," said one of them as they started preparations to remove the rock; "poor Schwantke'll never get up again."

The hell he won't! came in emphatic tones from beneath the rock. "Pass a rope down here quick and I'll get it under this big rock before the smaller stones that are holding its weight off me give way."

The rope was passed to him and Schwantke fastened it, later directing the work of the hoisters so that they might not dislodge the opportune wedges of stone which had saved his life. He was taken to St. John's Hospital, and probably will be back at work to-morrow.
